作文題目：The way I see the twelve-year compulsory education in Taiwan (100%)

News about implementing the twelve-year compulsory education in Taiwan has been under heated debate in the past couple of months. One of the goals behind the new educational policy is to help students explore their aptitude (strengths and weaknesses) so as to better advise them to get a job after high school or to continue to study in the university.

Develop a short essay (250-300 words) that begins with the thesis statement (please complete the sentence based on what your views are.):

“I believe that the proposed twelve-year compulsory education in Taiwan ...”

In your first paragraph (which begins with the thesis statement) describe your views on the goal underlined above. What is needed to achieve the goal? Do junior high students now know their strengths and weaknesses? Do they get enough help in this area? Will they get more help in the twelve-year system? How can this take place in the new system? Is the goal realistic?

In your second paragraph describe your own experience in the past as a student. Use your experience to support your views in the previous paragraph.

In your third paragraph conclude your essay by returning to the general idea expressed in the first paragraph—the thesis statement. Summarize your arguments to support your thesis statement.

Advice: This is an essay. Write complete sentences. DO NOT use an outline format. Indent each paragraph (as has been done above). Be sure you understand what questions are being asked of you, and make sure you have answered those questions. Be careful with your spelling, grammar, and punctuation, but be more concerned that everything you say is directly related to the thesis statement. Never say something that is not related to the thesis statement. Be careful: a part of this essay assignment is to see how you follow instructions! Are you paying attention? Good luck!*
