I. Owing to the technological advances in communications, our world has already become a global village that has greatly shortened the divides caused by geography, language, culture and nation-state between people. Yet, no matter people like it or not, it is hard for an individual to resist the coming waves of globalization because our local daily life has been impacted by the changes around the world and globalization has been part of our life. Therefore, it is important for people to know what makes a global citizen. In your opinion, what does it mean to be a global citizen? And how would you do to be a global citizen? In particular, as a university student, what preparations can you make in order to let yourself become a better global citizen? Please write a paragraph or an essay expressing your opinions about this topic.
